Read the Text

Koko the koala lived in a tall gum tree near a quiet blue lake. Every morning, Koko ate fresh gum leaves and watched the bush wake up.

One sunny day, Koko heard a small cry. A young wombat named Willa was sitting under the tree. "I am lost," said Willa. "I cannot find my mum."

Koko climbed down slowly. "Do not worry," said Koko. "I will help you." Together they followed tiny paw prints through the bush. Soon they found Willa's mum waiting near a big rock.

"Thank you, Koko," said Willa. Koko smiled and climbed back to her gum tree. She felt proud because she had helped a new friend.
