

Name: _____

Date: _____

NAPLAN Practice | Year 5 | Writing — Persuasive Genre

LEARNING INTENTION

I am practising writing a persuasive text with a clear position, structured arguments, evidence and a strong conclusion — at Year 5 NAPLAN level.

PERSUASIVE WRITING STRUCTURE

INTRODUCTION (state your position clearly) → ARGUMENT 1 + evidence → ARGUMENT 2 + evidence → ARGUMENT 3 + evidence → COUNTERARGUMENT (then refute it) → CONCLUSION (restate and call to action). Use cohesive devices to connect ideas.

WRITING PROMPT — Read the prompt carefully, then PLAN before you write!

WRITING PROMPT: SHOULD SCHOOLS BAN MOBILE PHONES?

Many Australian schools have introduced a ban on students bringing mobile phones to school.

Supporters say phones distract students from learning and cause social problems. Critics argue that phones are useful learning tools and help students stay safe.

Write a persuasive text arguing FOR or AGAINST a mobile phone ban in schools. State your position clearly and use evidence and reasoning to support your argument.

PLAN — PERSUASIVE STRUCTURE

My position (FOR / AGAINST the ban):

ARGUMENT 1 + supporting evidence:

ARGUMENT 2 + supporting evidence:

ARGUMENT 3 + supporting evidence:

Counterargument I will address + my rebuttal:

My concluding statement / call to action:

WORD BANK — USE THESE!

furthermore

however therefore it is evident that research shows

consequently opponents argue

in conclusion

significantly undeniably

it is essential that as a result

NAPLAN Markers look for: precise vocabulary, varied sentence types, cohesive devices, correct punctuation and a clear convincing argument!

PERSUASIVE TECHNIQUES CHECKLIST

- ☐ Rhetorical question used
- ☐ Statistics or evidence included
- ☐ Expert or real-world reference
- ☐ Counterargument addressed
- ☐ Strong call to action in conclusion
- ☐ Modal verbs (must, should) used

Name: _____

Date: _____

WRITE YOUR PERSUASIVE TEXT HERE — SHOULD SCHOOLS BAN MOBILE PHONES?

NAPLAN WRITING CRITERIA – YEAR 5

Audience

Does your text convince the reader?

Text Structure

Clear intro, body paragraphs, conclusion

Ideas

Well-developed, reasoned arguments

Vocabulary

Precise, persuasive word choices

Cohesion

Cohesive devices linking ideas

Punctuation

Accurate throughout

Spelling

Correct spelling of words attempted

Sentence Structure

Varied and complex sentences

STUDENT REFLECTION