Learning Intention

I am learning to plan and write a persuasive text using structured arguments, evidence and persuasive language techniques.

Success Criteria

- I can structure an argument with a clear position, reasons and evidence.
- I can use persuasive language techniques to strengthen my argument.
- I can address a counter-argument in my writing.

PEEL Your Paragraphs

Structure each argument paragraph: Point (your claim), Evidence (facts/examples), Explain (why it matters), Link (connect back to your position).

Worked Example

Point: Plastic bottles harm marine life.

Evidence: Millions of tonnes enter oceans yearly.

Explain: Mistaken for food by sea animals.

Link: This is why bottles should be banned.

Part A — Planning Your Position

State your position: Should single-use plastic water bottles be banned in Australia? Yes or No? _____

Write your first PEEL argument point below (topic: environmental impact).

Write your second PEEL argument point below (topic: cost or convenience).

Identify one counter-argument someone might make against your position.

Part B — Persuasive Techniques

Write a rhetorical question you could use in your introduction.

Write a sentence using emotive language to strengthen your argument.

Write a sentence responding to (rebutting) the counter-argument you identified in Part A.

Write a strong concluding sentence that restates your position powerfully.

Word Bank

position • rhetorical question • emotive language • counter-argument • rebuttal • PEEL • evidence
