LEARNING INTENTION

I know how a book is set up. I can find the front cover and the title, and I know which way we read.

I CAN…

- ✓ find the front cover
- ✓ point to the title
- ✓ show which way we read

EXPLORE: PARTS OF A BOOK

The front cover is the first page we see.

The title tells us the name of the book. Here it is Koala Camp.

The picture gives us a clue about the story.

The author is the person who wrote the book.

BUILD IT TOGETHER

1. Look at the book above. What is the title? Circle it.
   Koala Camp | Sam Wattle | 🐨
2. Who is the author? Circle it.
   Koala Camp | Sam Wattle
3. Which way do we read? Circle the arrow.
   ← right to left | left to right →

DO IT

4. Where do we start a book? Tick one.
   ☐ at the front ☐ at the back
5. What do we do at the end of a page? Tick one.
   ☐ turn the page ☐ close the book

6 Colour the title of the book in the box. Use blue.

Wombat Walk

7 Draw an arrow to show which way we read this line.

The cat sat.

8 True or false? Circle one.

A book has a front cover. true false

CHALLENGE: THINK AND CREATE

9 Make your own book cover. Draw a picture. Write the title and your name.

Title: _____ Author: _____

10 Why do we need a title on a book? Tell a grown-up, or draw it.

_____

_____

Look Out! The title is on the front cover. The author is the person who wrote the book.

💡 Parent Tip: When you read together, let your child hold the book and turn the pages. Ask them to point to the title and show where to start reading.

🎯 My Term 1 Goal: This term I want to get better at _____

TEACHER NOTES

Common misconception: mixing up the title and the author, or starting at the back of a book. Use a real picture book to point to each part.
Support: read each question aloud. Let children hold a real book and show the front, back and where to start.
Challenge marking: Q9 accept drawings and a copied title. Q10 accept spoken or drawn answers.
Australian Curriculum v9.0: AC9EFLA04 (early childhood review): understand conventions of print and screen, including how books and simple digital texts are usually organised.
