LEARNING INTENTION

I am learning to use commas correctly to separate clauses, items in lists and introductory phrases.

KEY IDEA

Use a comma AFTER an introductory clause or phrase (e.g. 'After the storm, we went outside'). Use commas to SEPARATE items in a list (e.g. apples, oranges, bananas). Use commas AROUND extra information (e.g. 'My dog, who is 3 years old, loves to swim').

WARM UP — QUICK CHECK!

Add the missing comma: 'After dinner we watched a movie then went to bed.'

A — COMMA AFTER INTRODUCTION

Add the missing comma in each sentence:

1. Although it was late she kept on reading her book.

2. When the bell rang all the students lined up quickly.

3. Because she had practised so hard Maya felt very confident.

B — COMMAS IN LISTS

Add commas to correctly separate the items in each list:

1. I packed a hat sunscreen a towel a book and a snack.

2. The garden had roses tulips daisies lavender and sunflowers.

3. She speaks English French Spanish and a little Mandarin.

C — COMMAS FOR EXTRA INFO

Example: My dog, who is 3 years old, loves to swim. (Extra info can be removed.)

Add commas around the extra information in each sentence:

1. My teacher who has taught for 20 years is retiring this year.

2. The Eiffel Tower which was built in 1889 stands 330 metres tall.

D — EDIT THE PARAGRAPH

Rewrite this paragraph, adding ALL the missing commas:

'Before the race started Maya stretched her legs checked her shoes and took a deep breath. Although she was nervous she felt ready. Her coach who had trained her all year gave her a thumbs up.'

EXTENSION / CHALLENGE

Find a paragraph in a non-fiction text with at least 3 commas. Copy it out and write beside each comma WHY it is there (introductory clause, list, or extra information).

PARENT TIP

When writing grocery lists or letters together, practise adding commas correctly. Read sentences aloud — natural pauses often indicate where a comma belongs.

TEACHER TIP

Colour-code the 3 comma rules on an anchor chart. Give students unpunctuated paragraphs to edit in pairs, then compare and discuss their reasoning.

STUDENT REFLECTION
